HUNGKONG, OCTOBER 13TH, 1887.

The appointment of Mr. Stewart-Lockham to the post of Registrar-General disposes of all speculation as to whom the mantle of Dr. STEWART was to descend upon. Mr. Lock-HART had undoubted claims to the preferment which has so luckily befallen him. He had twice acted as Registrar-General, once for about twelve months and the second time for over eighteen months. He must therefore be well acquainted with the routine and the duties of the post. Moreover he is known to be a good Chinese scholar and a capable official. Nevertheless we cannot regard Mr. LOCKHART as altogether a suitable incumbent of this post. The Registrar-General's Department is in many respects an exceptional and an objectionable one. It is essentially different from other departments as being designed to deal with matters connected with the Chinese popula- by H. &. Li Hung-chang and the Philadelphia tion, and is possessed of administrative and inquisitorial powers of a peculiar and un-English description, and which should only name be entrusted to an official of most tried exand good-natured, but somewhat bumptions young cadet just inducted into this rather mandarin-like post is perfectly competent to conduct the mere routine duties of a Registrar-General, but can his discretion always be relied upon in the extremely delicate and responsible matters which he is required to deal with in connection with the Chinese? His action with regard to Tung Wah Hospital, which drew upon him the censure of the Acting Chief Justice in the Supreme Court the other day, resssuring on that point. Of that rather unpleasant experience, while the fact that the public are inclined to watch the Tyler. proceedings of his inquisitorial department. with great jealousy and suspicion will no doubt tend to render him exceedingly careful and cautious in the future. The knowledge that he succeeds such tried and trusted officials as Sir CECIL SMITH, the Hon, J. Russull, and the present Colonial Secretary wil doubtless also put Mr. LOCKHART on his mettle and render him desirous of maintaining the dignity of his office and of endeavouring to establish a reputation not unworthy of those of his eminent predecessors.

No one knows what the Assistant Harbour Master ever found to do except play tennis RUMBEY must therefore have heard with profound relief of the new duties for him by the Opium Agreement, as there is no reason to believe that he is either lacking in industry, given but a chance to exercise it. But Captain THOMSETT will, we understand, very shortly retire on pension, and the post of Harbour Master will then be vacant. Commander RUMBRY will naturally expect to succeed his chief. Meantime Commander Rumser's Imports is being most ably filled by Mr. SETH: the office of Assistant Harbour Master does not require an acting appointment for very obvious reasons. So far as the first point was concerned there was no doubt in his mind. The plaintiff was clearly entitled to a bonus according to the prospectus. The letter which had been put in also showed that it was the intention of the Company that participating policy holders, who paid a higher rate than the ordinary policy holders, should share in the profits of the Company. The clause in the policy which stated that the bonus would be given conditionally upon regulations then in force, or to be made did not in any way take away their right to the bonus. He submitted that the regulations to be things have returned to their statu quo ante. The stupid ramours in connection with an aggressive visit of the Governor of Canton to this place have, as anticipated in my previous communications, subsided ; it was simply a canard which was spread by mischievous persons, who, for and imagination, and moved by disloyal feelings, endeavoured to alarm the population of the city. To a limited extent it took effect, as it is reported that some of the Chinese removed to your place in consequence of the absurd rumour, and those who have their property here applied to the autherities for information on the subject, which resulted in Dr. Marques d'Oliveira, the Procurador, issuing a notification denying that any foundation existed for any fear of such an occurrence. #### THE PUDDING TEST.

Dr. Milner Fothergill, who has been instruct. ing and entertaining the members of the British Association on the subject of cockney "deterloration," finds the best and readlest support for his views in what may for shortness be conveniently called "the pudding test." The cookney is sharp, shrewd, and witty in his way, but he can not tackle the "pastry, pie crust, and cakes! which form so large a part of the diet of his country cousins. When the youthful here of "Looksley "Hall," along the dusky highway. near and nearer drawn; "saw in heaven the light of London flaring like another dawn," little perhaps did he think that he was leaving behind him-taking maybe a farewell for ever of the dumpling of his native home-supposed, to be somewhere down Lincolnshire way-and entering a community in which the rolling pin and the pasteboard so often hang idly on the kitchen wall. What Lord Tennyson's young man from the country came to, after his pastry days were saying "No!"—too often with an unprovoked coived that these students had made en: of Their Imperial Majesties the Empress and procession before his guest, after which dances acerbity of tone when the waiter or the servant mildly suggests "tart or pudding, sir?" Of the name of the school to Po. Hsüch Kuan course this is only an indication of the truth that town life is unhealthy, and a corroboration of Mr. Cantlie's recent demonstration of the rarity of "a pure-brod cockney of the fourth generation." So does the country-bred settler in towns take to rich visads, tempered with bread and fish, and in lied of fruit tarts indulges immederately in seductive meat-pies unmindful of the maxim of that cookney philosopher, made wise by his sufferings, who declared that "One man's meatpie is another man's mest-poison." Hence gout, pulmonary phthisis, and Bright's disease, which are classed by Dr. Fothergill with all the irritating complacency of the scientific inquirer among "Dame Nature's means of weeding out the degenerate town dweller." In, a like spirit we are assured that the offspring of urban residents are snether race from their cousins who remain in the country. The latter are largelimbed, stalwart, fair-baired Anglo-Danes, while their urban cousins are smaller, slighter, darker beings, of an earlier and lowlier ethnic form, and resembling the Celto-Iberian race. More horrible still, admidst this general reversion the eye of science recognises a distinct liverreversion to the early primitive internal secretions of the bird and reptile. Perhaps after all there may be in this some componention. It is a significant fact that Norfolk, perhaps the most dumpling-eating country in the whole kingdom, is reductantly described by the school inspectors as pre-eminently the county of dull children. The exclamation "Them's the jockeys for me!" which first awakened Coloridge's mind to the fact that this happy, healthy-looking tellectual person be had taken him for, may have had even a deeper significance than the post philosopher imagined. Hitherto the dumpings have been supposed to be merely the innocent provocation of that significant evidence of a debased intellect. But what if the damplings had done it? - Daily News. .

HINGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY: WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance is requested, when immediate steps will be taken of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises 35 for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Parcels must be posted before 3 r.m. on the Chinese and English type correspond in the size working day next before the departure of the Published at the Office of the Hongkong Daily of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-

Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16.000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst may be required. this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese charac-The "Trade Report" has a large circulation ters.
